

beatitudes

blessed are the Dead for they don't have to make toilet paper runs, count haiku syllables,
or bury their survivors blessed are the Lonely for their secrets are not detected, their zits can be popped or left to fester on date night

blessed are the Failures for success is fleeting, attempts are countless and boats that set sail are castles without skies cursed are the Blessed who cannot see that all is a gift
